CITIES AND COUNTIES SHOULD NOT BEAR THE FINANCIAL BURDEN OF CONSTRUCTION DEFECTS

In today's economic environment, we know that cities and counties carefully review every expenditure to ensure that the districts receive full value on their investments. It is especially important that the cities and counties maximize the return on investments in capital projects such as new construction, renovations, and air conditioning upgrades.

SOME TYPES OF DEFECTS

- Roof & window leaks
- HVAC imbalance - humidity
- Foundation problems
- Improperly installed electrical and plumbing systems
- Water pooling next to building
- Inadequate insulation
- Chinese Drywall
- Condensation around registers
- Wall cracking

If you have had a major capital project in recent years, and there are considerable defects related to the project, contact Gravely & Pearson, L.L.P. The necessary legal steps will be taken to recover monetary damages for cities and counties when there have been construction defects in various projects.

There is no financial commitment until there is a settlement or judgement
